Colorful Crocheted Bangles

By: Maya Kuzman from The Little Treasures

If you're new to making crochet jewelry and are looking for an easy beginner pattern to get your feet wet, this is the perfect project for you. Use a basic plastic bangle as your base and simply crochet around it following these easy steps. You'll have an armful of colorful crocheted bangles in no time!

Materials:

- yarn or thread of your choice
- crochet hook
- plastic bangle
- sewing needle

Note: This pattern can be done with any yarn size; it depends on the preference of the crocheter. I prefer to use Fine (3.5-4.5mm E-4 to 7), Light (4.5-5.5mm 7 to I-9) or Medium (5.5-6.5 mm I-9 to K-10.5) because the work is fast and the stitches solid. But, as I said, it depends on the preference of the person crocheting it.

Instructions:

1.) Tie the thread around the bangle and leave a short tail.

2.) Tilt the bangle toward you, so that it will be easier to insert the hook; yarn over and make a single crochet around the bangle.

How to Crochet Jewelry: 10 Free Crochet Patterns

3.) There are two loops on the bangle; make a single crochet through both of them for a more secure beginning.

That's it. This is one single crochet completed.

4.) Continue making single crochets all the way around. When you come to the end, pull the yarn firmly and then thread a needle and make a knot.

5.) To weave it, pass the needle through the last loop and do the stitching back and forth a couple of times under the crochet seam.

This is the finished ring.

Make some more and wear them proudly!

Scarlet Coiled Medallion Pendant

By: Stefanie from A Common Thread

This stunning yet simple medallion is a pattern with a lot of pop. You'll need to know the bullion (or "roll") crochet stitch to complete this pretty pendant, so it may take some practice before you get it down pat. Use the same scarlet color for a vibrant end result, or use a more neutral color for a subtler effect.

Materials:

- size C needle
- small thread
- thin chain of your choice
- two jump rings

Note: You can use any size hook and yarn/thread that you like—the smaller, the daintier!

Instructions:

Bullion stitch instructions:

The actual bullion stitch is done by wrapping your hook 5-10 times (start small for practice) somewhat loosely, but very evenly. Insert into your foundation stitch, wrap once, pull through foundation st. Wrap once and pull through all of your loops. Wrap once and pull through last loop.

Round 1: Create loop (to knit in round) and dc into loop 10 times

Round 2 - ch 3 st, then into each dc, do 2 bullion 10-loop stitches4.) Go down one bead and up the next. Then brick stitch on the 8/0 red bead in the very center of the four beads. Now you have a cherry!

Tie off end and weave in ends. Attach to a chain and you're done!

Sea Anemone Necklace

By: Maya Kuzman from The Little Treasures

This stunning, swirling necklace is a great way to use up some old yarn scraps. Create curly crochet tendrils that look like the tentacles of a lovely sea creature swaying in the waves! This is a necklace pattern unlike any you've ever seen.

Materials:

- any yarn scraps
- crochet hook
- a metal chain
- two large jump rings
- six small jump rings

Tip: When choosing the crochet thread/yarn for your project, check the label because it contains information about the kind of thread and suggested hook size. For this project I used thin 100% mercerized and gassed cotton, and the label suggested a 1.5-2 mm hook size. I used a 1.9 mm hook. Also, for this project I would suggest you use thin yarn and a small hook so the tentacles acquire a tight, neat, and compact appearance.

Instructions:

1.) Start by chaining a total of 16 stitches.

2.) When you make them, single crochet for about 13 stitches. The remaining 3 would be used for attaching this part to the necklace. Next, *Chain 16 and single crochet 15 of them, leaving one stitch as a border between the tentacles*. Repeat from* to * until you get the desired number of tentacles (I made 8). This is the lowest and widest part.

3.) When you come to the end, chain 3 (for the attachment); cut yarn and weave ends.

5.) Attach the small jump rings to each side of every row.

4.) Now you have to make the other two rows. Look closely at the picture. I have made the consecutive rows smaller. For example the lowest (the one I made first) has 8 tentacles, the middle has 7, and the one coming first has 5 tentacles. I would suggest you cut the number of tentacles as you move higher so that the cascading rows appear attractive. Also you can use the pattern of making the tentacles as in the first one (16 st) or you may decrease the number in the next rows. I decreased them to 12 and 10 respectively. Remember to leave 3-4 stitches on both sides for attachment.

6.) Then put all three onto the bigger jump ring.

7.) Attach the bigger jump ring to the metal chain, and there you go!

Dainty Doily Earrings

Light, airy, and stitched in soft pastels, these darling disc-like dangle earrings are made for effortless warm weather wear! This pattern turns traditional crochet techniques into the summer's most sizzling fashion trend. Make these adorable earrings if you're looking for a quick and fun pattern to try.

Materials:

- hook size 4 (2mm)
- fish hook style earwires
- needle

How to Crochet Jewelry: 10 Free Crochet Patterns

Instructions:

Crochet two motifs.

Start with a Magic Ring.

Rnd 1: Ch 3 (counts as first dc), dc 11 in ring. (12 dc.)

Rnd 2: Ch 1, 2 sc in each sp around. (24 sc.)

Rnd 3: Ch 5, *skip 1 sp, 2 dc in next sp, ch 2, repeat from * around to end until you reach beginning ch. Dc in same space as beginning ch 5, sl st to 3rd ch to finish round. (52 st.)

Rnd 4: Ch 1, *2 sc in ch 2 space, sc 2, repeat from * around to end. (52 sc.)

Finish; leave about 8-10 inch tail to use to fasten motif to earwire.

Using a needle and your tail, sew the motif to one fish hook style earwire.

How to Make Crocheted Beads

By: Maya Kuzman from The Little Treasures

Most of us have seen beaded crochet, but have you ever seen crocheted beads? This tutorial will teach you how to make adorable little plushy crochet beads filled with stuffing! Use them for bracelets, necklaces, or any other crocheted creations you can think up.

Materials:

- yarn or thread of your choice (different sizes result in different sized beads)
- hook of your choice (smaller hook for smaller thread; bigger hook for thicker thread)
- stuffing or wooden beads

Key:

stitch (st.)

single crochet (sc)

single crochet 2 together (sc2tog)

How to Crochet Jewelry: 10 Free Crochet Patterns

Instructions:

Start by chaining three chains. Join with a slip stitch with the last chain from hook to make a ring.

Row 1: 6 sc in ring

Row 2: 2 sc in each stitch for 12 stitches

Row 3: 1 sc in one stitch, 2 sc in the next; repeat until you get 18 st.

Rows 4-5: sc around for 18 st. (You may stuff it here.)

Row 6: 1 sc, sc2tog for 18 st.

Row 7 (end): sc2tog until end

Tie the end, thread an embroidery needle, and hide the tail inside the bead.

Tips: For the blue bead I used a six-stranded yarn and a 3mm hook. The red bead is made from a thinner yarn and a 1.9mm hook. You can see the difference in size. Hence, combining different yarn and hook sizes results in beads of different sizes.

Also, if you want to make big(ger) beads, just repeat row 4 until you achieve the desired size.

As you can see, I used filling for my beads, but you can use this pattern with wooden (plastic) beads too, only you have to insert it earlier and again employ the row 4 instructions.

I usually stuff the bead after row 6, but you may find it difficult. Thus I thought it might be wise to stuff it sooner. Try both to find out what works best for you.

Ruffled Bib Necklace

By: Stefanie from A Common Thread

This elegant and lacy bib necklace has a vintage vibe but with a totally modern edge. Follow this pattern to marry classic crochet techniques with contemporary fashion trends. This lovely layered necklace will add some sophisticated feminine flair to any ensemble.

Materials:

- Peaches & Creme cotton solids
- size G hook

Note: You can pretty much use any yarn/hook size to get whichever size you prefer.

C= chain

SC= single crochet

DC= double crochet

TC= triple crochet

Instructions:

Chain 33 sts

Row 1: DC into third stitch from hook, DC across row.

Row 2: C3, turn, DC into first st, *chain 3, DC into next st, repeat from * across the row.

Row 3: C3, turn, DC into first st, then in loop created from previous row (TC, C1, TC, TC, C1, TC), * C3 skip 1 loop, SC into next loop, C3, skip 1 loop, in next loop (TC, C1, TC, TC, C1, TC). Continue from * to the end of the row. DC into remaining st. Bind off.

Repeat for next layer only chaining 29 stitches for the foundation row.

Repeat for next later only chaining 25 stitches for the foundation row.

Stitch all three together, staggering the placement to get a layered effect. To do this, place the biggest piece on bottom and attach the middle piece one scallop above the top edges of the bottom piece. Only stitch in two places (at the very tops of the "horseshoes" or U's). Next, lay your smallest piece on top of the middle piece, one scallop above the top. Stitch the same way as before. Finally, attach to a chain. You're done!

Note: This pattern can be easily modified if you're using bigger or smaller yarn. To make longer or shorter pieces, just increase or decrease your initial chains in increments of 4.
